

MAGNANNI

BRAND GUIDELINES

ORIGIN STORY

Designed and made in Spain, Magnanni has been family-owned and operated since 1954, remaining true to its heritage and shoemaking traditions. Each pair of Magnanni shoes exemplifies the value of hand craftsmanship. Located in the La Mancha region of Spain, the brand is distinguished by superior materials and sophisticated hand-painted patinas, giving classic shapes a contemporary update.

THE LEGACY

Our legacy spans generations, with each family member's dedication ensuring consistently superior footwear. We proudly uphold the longstanding family traditions started three generations ago. Today, the third generation leads the company, maintaining our tradition of excellence. Many hands touch every pair that goes through our factory to ensure quality.

From conception to delivery, every phase involves a family member's touch, celebrating seven decades of commitment to exceptional footwear. The company began in 1954 with just five employees in a factory located in Almansa, Spain, on the ground floor of a house under the direction of Sebastian Blanco. The company then passed into the hands of Sebastian's only child, Pascual Blanco Martinez, who began studying under his father at the age of 14. Pascual soon became the head designer of Blangar at age 20. Under his influence, the company quickly adopted a more luxurious and elegant design.

In 1989, Pascual's children, the third generation of the Blanco family, were ready to begin taking their places at the head of the family business. Miguel Blanco was the first of Pascual's six children to join the business. He was soon followed by his siblings, Sebastián, Pascual, Julio, Luis, and Rocio, who all own and operate the business to this day. Today, the Blanco family proudly oversees each step of the tradition.

LOGO USE

Clear space from other text or elements should be at least the height of the letter "M" in the logomark.

The logo should be placed at the center with a width less than half of the image.

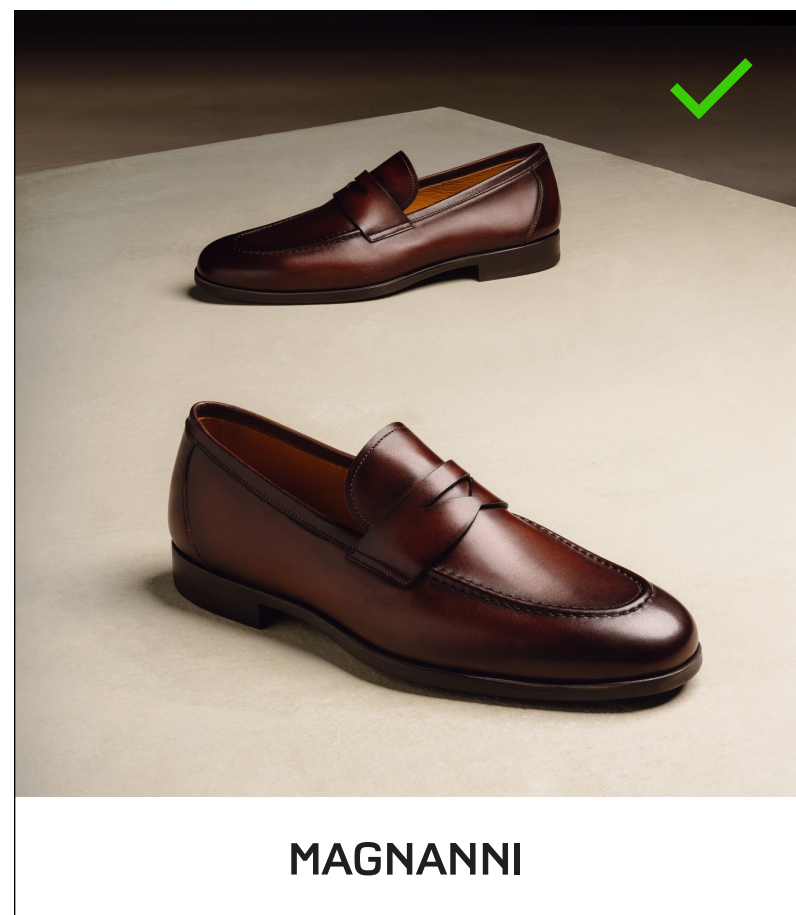

The logo should not be placed on a busy section of the image or in areas with low contrast.

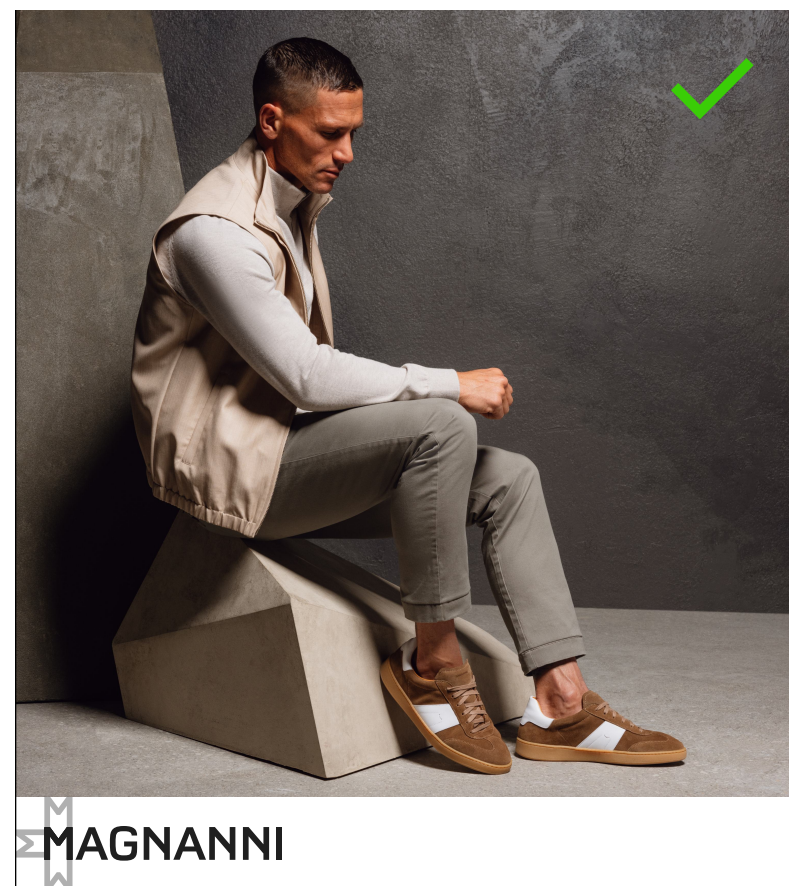

When placed in a corner, the logo should have equal space from the nearest two edges.

LOGO USE

In general, the logo size should be understated and placed either at the center or in a corner with even space on either side. The width of the logo should not exceed one-third of the largest image's width. When placing the logo on top of an image, always find an empty area with good contrast, ensuring the logo does not obstruct any key focus point of the image. If these conditions cannot be met, place the logo outside of the image while still maintaining proper sizing requirements.

When not placing the logo on an image, still maintain the sizing and placement guidelines.

When not placing the logo on an image, ensure clear space around the logo is at least the height of the letter "M" in the logomark.
